Aurora Theatre Company
Suggested Language for Your Charitable Bequest

Thank you for thinking of Aurora Theatre Company in your estate planning. There are different kinds of bequests, each requiring specific language to direct your assets in a way that carries out your wishes. You may choose an unrestricted bequest to be used for general purposes at Aurora’s discretion. You may also use your bequest to establish a named fund (which are subject to certain minimum amounts at the time of the gift) that carries in perpetuity your name or the name of a loved one.

There are four types of bequests for you to consider. A percentage is most flexible because it allows your gift to appreciate in your will or trust. A specific bequest provides for the specific amount of cash or stock or tangible property regardless of the size of your estate. A residual bequest is often made after remembering relatives and friends, and usually in combination with a percentage bequest. A contingent bequest becomes effective only if the more primary beneficiaries are no longer alive.

You are encouraged to seek advice of your estate planning advisor when making any decisions concerning your estate. If you notify Aurora of your intention to make a bequest, we would be pleased to recognize you as a member of our Legacy Society during your lifetime.
